Background and experience

Nick began his career in the corporate finance department at Clifford Chance in London. He joined Ogier in the Cayman Islands in 2001, before relocating to Hong Kong in 2003 with another Cayman Islands firm, where he became a partner in 2005. Nick returned to the Cayman Islands in 2006 and re-joined Ogier as a partner in 2010.

Nick specialises in:

- Advising hedge funds and hedge fund managers on structuring, formation, regulation and corporate governance matters
- Advising private equity sponsors on the structuring and formation of closed-ended investment vehicles
- Advising on ongoing fund operation, including regulatory compliance
- Advising institutional, strategic and seed investors into investment funds
- Advising on bespoke investment fund products, such as shipping, residential real estate, clean tech and cryptocurrency
- Advising on joint ventures, shareholders' agreements, and share and asset acquisitions and disposals

Some of Nick's recent transactions include:

- Ongoing representation of leading US litigation finance firm in respect of its investment portfolio
- Advised leading secondaries fund sponsor on the establishment and closing of its sixth fund, with capital commitments of US$5.5 billion
- Ongoing representation of leading US event-driven manager with US$16 billion under management in relation to operational and corporate governance aspects of its hedge fund portfolio
- Advised leading healthcare fund manager on establishment of private equity structure with philanthropic social component
- Represented a European bank on its proposed investment into a private equity fund focused on small and medium-sized enterprises in Ireland
- Advised on the first Bitcoin fund registered with the Cayman Islands Monetary Authority

Nick is a Director of Cayman Finance and a member of the Cayman financial services legislative committee.
