

Ogier's trade marks prosecution factsheets provide an overview of trade mark filing, prosecution, registration, maintenance, renewal and recordal requirements in a range of jurisdictions in an easy-to-digest format.

You can check:

- the types of trade mark filings that can be made
- whether Paris Convention priority can be claimed
- the classification system used
- initial trade mark registration and renewal terms
- typical documentary requirements and formalities

We also provide general observations of each country or territory.

Whether you are in-house counsel at a brand or foreign counsel looking for an introduction to one of our specialist jurisdictions or wondering how to register a trade mark, Ogier's Trade Marks Prosecution Factsheets offer advice and guidance, which can be shared within your team or business. For any further queries, contact our Intellectual Property team.

Intellectual Property team

Ogier's Intellectual Property team acts across the full spectrum of Intellectual Property rights, including brands and trade marks, copyright, industrial designs and patents, specialising in multi-jurisdictional IP clearance, prosecution, exploitation and enforcement.

Our intellectual property experts are pragmatic and commercial in their approach to providing IP solutions for all types and sizes of business at all stages of the IP life cycle. Supported by our experienced colleagues in our dispute resolution, corporate and regulatory teams, we provide a holistic service that is global in reach and of the highest quality.

Get in touch with our team to find out more, or visit our Intellectual Property page.