

The Guernsey Funds Forum will be held on Wednesday 15 May 2024, and is titled 'Navigating the Future of Funds'.

This Ogier-sponsored event will feature specialist speakers, such as Miles Celic, CEO of TheCityUK, engaging panel sessions, networking opportunities, plus a keynote speech from Sir Ranulph Fiennes.

The first panel titled 'Tech, sustainability and health assets - capital raising in today's economic climate,' explores capital raising in the current environment against the backdrop of a developing technological landscape, including AI.

The second panel, titled 'Exploring the future of funds,' will focus on continuation and follow-on funds, secondary markets, tokenisation, and ancillary vehicles and carried interest vehicles.

There will also be two funds masterclass sessions on the morning of the event. These sessions are aimed at expanding the knowledge of emerging fund managers, associates, and future partners.

If you would like to attend please register via this link making use of the sponsor code OGGFF24 for Ogier guest registration.

In addition to the main conference, we are, for the second year running, holding two masterclasses. These are aimed at the up-and-coming generation of City professionals, including first-time fund managers, associates and future partners.

Masterclass 2: 'There's no place like Guernsey,' delivered by Tim Clipstone, Partner, Ogier.

The masterclass registration page can be found here. Please also use code OGGFF24.