

Whether it be scenery, music or lifestyle, Ireland has one of the most recognisable cultures in the world. It has been named as the “best country for business” by a number of ranking publications over the years as well as Forbes. The combination of Ireland's non-dom tax regime and its business-friendly environment makes it an attractive destination for high-net-worth individuals and their business interests.

Relocating your business to Ireland

Ireland has long been a destination of choice for many foreign companies and this is due to a number of key factors including:

- membership of the EU and the Euro
- a pro-business environment and supportive regime for startups
- a young, English speaking and well-educated workforce
- a common law jurisdiction with a strong legal system
- a favourable low taxation system with a corporate tax rate of 15%
- an extensive double taxation treaty arrangement

Ireland's legal system is supportive of business, offering a clear and transparent framework for corporate operations, intellectual property rights, and dispute resolution. Ireland's geographic location provides a gateway to both the European and North American markets. Ogier can support clients through cross-departmental expertise in Real Estate, Employment / Immigration, and Corporate services to navigate the transition smoothly and optimise their operations in Ireland.

Relocating your family to Ireland

Ireland has a lot to offer families. Ireland consistently ranks high in global quality of life indexes. Its clean environment, low crime rate, and high standard of living contribute to a quality of life that is among the best in the world. The country's commitment to public healthcare and social welfare also plays a significant part in ensuring a high quality of life for its residents. Ireland's education system is renowned for its excellence and is one of the main attractions for families moving to the country. It offers a wide range of high-quality schooling options, both public and private, alongside world-class universities and higher education institutions known for their research and innovation.