Background and experience

Fay joined Ogier in early 2021, having worked in the dispute resolution team at another market-leading offshore law firm in Guernsey. Her wide practice includes advising on contentious and non-contentious employment and regulatory law, commercial disputes and insolvency/restructuring.

Prior to qualifying as an English barrister in 2014 and an Advocate in 2018, Fay worked internationally as a researcher, writer and rapporteur specialising in finance, international development and human rights issues. She maintains a strong interest in green finance and environmental, social and governance issues, as well as social issues closer to home as a former director of Guernsey charities Safer and the Young Business Group.

Fay holds a first class degree from the University of Cambridge and is an honorary scholar of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge. She has MAs from Cambridge and from the School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London. She also holds a General Diploma in Law from the University of Bournemouth, the Bar Professional Training Course certification from BPP University, London and the Certificat d'Etudes Juridiques Françaises et Normandes from the Université de Caen Basse-Normandie.
