

Award win for trust team "Future Leaders"

News - 02/11/2017

Josephine Howe from Ogier's Jersey Private Client and Trusts team won a Future Leaders award in Citywealth's awards last night.

Josephine was the bronze award winner in the "Lawyer of the Year IFC – Associate" category.

The award was decided by a team of judges and an online vote.

Sally Edwards, Ogier's Global Head of Private Client and Trusts, said: "We are all pleased to see the hard work and deserved success of Josephine recognised in this way - she is building a thoroughly-deserved reputation as rising star in the private client and trusts world, and fully merits the description of 'Future Leaders'.

"Having embarked on a new CSR strategy across all of our jurisdictions in the last 18 months it has become an important part of life at Ogier, and it is good to see these things recognised by the industry at a wider level.

"Josephine continues to build a reputation for outstanding client service, with the most recent client feedback noting her technical skills, diligence and 'excellent turnaround times'."

"We remain committed to developing talent within our teams in addition to the strategic recruitment that has seen partner hires in our private client teams in Cayman, Guernsey and Jersey over the last 12 months, and Josephine is a fine example of future leaders in the profession."

Josephine, a managing associate, acts for a wide range of professional trustees, settlors and beneficiaries, including leading trust companies, private banks and family offices on all issues concerning trusts and foundations as well as private wealth and regulatory matters.
