AIGCC provides capacity and a trusted forum for investors active in Asia to share best practice and to collaborate on investment activity, credit analysis, risk management, engagement and policy related to climate change.

"The need for seasoned professionals who understand real world impacts of integrating climate change into investments is growing in the region. By partnering with Ogier's Talent4Impact programme we are developing the talent pool as much as we are using the opportunity to future-proof business decisions towards a climate resilient future," said Valerie Kwan, Director, Engagements at AIGCC.

Social Ventures Hong Kong has a vision to transform the city-wide landscape by 2030. From introducing venture philanthropy and social enterprises to Hong Kong more than ten years ago, SVhk has evolved into a 'Business 2.0' platform, connecting organisations of all sectors to their social purpose and has incubated more than 40 impact ventures.

"We need to change the way we create change, so that we can achieve exponential impact for Hong Kong. We are looking forward to working with this year's fellows, and be part of the movement to nurture the next generation of impact talent as they embark on their journeys to be the change they want to see in the world," said Francis Ngai, Founder and CEO, SVhk.
