

Leonie Kelly, Head of ESG and Impact Services at Ogier Global and The School of International Financial Services (SIFS) will be hosting a webinar to discuss environmental, social and governance (ESG) across asset class.

This masterclass will be delivered in presentation format and will examine how global environmental and social challenges, regulatory and reputational risks, and new market opportunities have made ESG factors a source of fundamental importance when it comes to making and analysing investments. Leonie will discuss the core fundamentals and address questions such as: What is the sustainable finance spectrum? What are the various forms of sustainable investing strategies? What does sustainable investing look like across asset class? And more.

To register for this event, please click here and select the 'Attend Event' button. Login details will be emailed directly to all attendees.